SISP is a non-profit cultural association that aims to promote the development of political science in Italy, the exchange and collaboration of scholars in the discipline both in Italy and abroad as well as the coordination of institutional structures for teaching and research.

MEMBERSHIP

SISP ordinary members are more than 400. SISP membership allows to join a broad community of political scientists and social scientists. The membership benefits include: the online subscription to the Italian Political Science Review / Rivista Italiana di Scienza Politica and the access to its digital archives; the rights to participate in the annual conference without registration fees and to fill the role of Section Chair at the annual conference; the opportunity to participate in the competition for the SISP prizes as well as to promote publications, call for papers, events and more through the monthly newsletter and the SISP website.

STANDING GROUPS

SISP counts 17 Standing Groups (SG). Membership is open to all SISP members, as well as to non-members subject to acceptance by the SG coordinators.

PUBLISHING

SISP publishes two disciplinary journals.

- Italian Political Science Review/Rivista Italiana di Scienza Politica (IPSR/RISP), recognized as the leading publication of the Italian political science community, embraces all approaches to political science research, with no restrictions on any particular theory, method or topic. The journal publishes three issues a year in English and employs a rigorous double-blind peer review process. Since 2015 IPSR/RISP has been published by Cambridge University Press.

- Italian Political Science (IPS) is an open-access, peer-reviewed journal dedicated to deepening the understanding of political phenomena relevant to political scientists and all those with an interest in politics. It publishes intellectually stimulating and conceptually rigorous contributions on all areas relevant to political science. All articles include a focus on contemporary Italy, either considered as a case-study or in comparative or European perspective.

PRIZES

Each year, SISP acknowledges its members' achievements and the scientific value of their work by awarding several prizes. These include the "Carlo Maria Santoro" prize for the best paper presented at the SISP conference and the "Pietro Grilli di Cortona" biennial prize for the best book published by a SISP member under forty years old.

WELCOME

The 2023 SISP Conference in Genoa: a changing, rich research agenda with a look to our history

It is with great pleasure that I present the 36th congress of the Italian Political Science Association. Our annual event has tremendously grown after the pandemic break. In numbers as well as in qualitative terms. The adoption of international and selective standards for the preparation of our programme has yielded a positive outcome: the SISP conference is now among the five top political science events in Europe. A number of international scholars are expected in Genoa. We have super-interesting plenary sessions and round tables, touching very sensible problems and aiming to respond to the most crucial challenges for our discipline.

After all, in order to keep playing its pivotal role in shaping our contemporary society, political science has to continuously redefine its ever-evolving boundaries and search for innovative approaches in methodology and communication. To fully understand political phenomena, we need to keep changing: this is our "fate". I believe the Italian community of scholars is responding adequately to such a challenge, and our conference has become an essential venue to understand where we are, share our findings, exchange ideas, and engage in new and provoking discussions. The diversity of the topics covered by our conference sections serves as a testament to our commitment to the quest for change and improvement.

In our effort to envisage our future work, we also have to pay a tribute to our founding fathers. Italian political science has a short but significant history. In Genoa we celebrate 50 years from the foundation of our first organizational project (the political science section of the Italian Association of Social Sciences) and, above all, we have a timely opportunity for some reflection on the long-term transformations of our mission. This is a big responsibility. Of course. But also a privilege. Contributing to the development of an inclusive, open-minded political analysis certainly responds to the compelling questions of our time, but also to the expectations of our founding fathers.

Let us use this congress as a catalyst for our progress. Let us nurture critical thinking and disciplinary pluralism. Let us promote mutual exchange among our communities, here represented by sections and standing groups. And let us have fun in the gorgeous Genoa, where a group of enthusiastic colleagues have worked hard to make this great conference possible. To them, my heartfelt gratitude.

DIRECTIONS

From Piazza Principe train station, walk along Via Balbi until you reach the Rectorate building at Via Balbi, 5. Enter the Rectorate building, take the first flight of stairs, and continue straight ahead. Before the internal staircase, on the left, there is a small corridor that leads to an elevator. Take the elevator to the third floor, where you will find Aula Mazzini. From there, follow the signs to the botanical garden, cross it, and you will then see the Albergo dei Poveri.
